

Coco Li

Investment Officer

As an Investment Officer at Gresham, Coco is responsible for sourcing, evaluating, structuring, and monitoring of fund investments and co-investments across all marketable asset classes.

Coco joined Gresham in 2019 and takes a lead role in the full cycle of an investment, which includes sourcing of opportunities, conducting thorough due diligence, making recommendations to the Investment Committee, and monitoring investment results across all marketable strategies. As a senior member in the Investment Team, she also plays a key role in decisions related to asset allocation, portfolio construction, and risk management.

Prior to joining Gresham, Coco was an Associate in the Leveraged Finance group of Bank of America Merrill Lynch.

Outside of work, Coco is a curious explorer of foreign cultures as she enjoys traveling abroad and learning local languages. That said, she also has a special talent of getting lost five blocks from home thanks to her poor sense of direction.

Chartered Financial Analyst®

EDUCATION BACKGROUND

- B.B.A., Xi'an Jiaotong
- M.Phil., The Chinese University of Hong Kong Business School
- M.B.A., Northwestern University Kellogg School of Management