

Thomas Choe

Client Service Analyst

Thomas is a part of the Client Operations Team as a Client Service Analyst. In this role, he is responsible for maintaining a level of efficiency and creativity to bring the client facing and analytics side of Gresham together.

Thomas began his journey at Gresham in 2025 and works with Associates and other team members by handling requests, bookkeeping, and organization of client information. Through this role, he builds a strong understanding of Gresham's operations and vision.

Before joining Gresham, Thomas worked at Northwestern Mutual as a financial representative.

Outside of work, Thomas enjoys being a part of his local hockey community by coaching and staying up late participating in league games. He also loves spending time surrounded by loved ones, especially his two dogs.
